EDITORIAL

It is with a feeling of pride and satisfaction that the Editorial Staff of your newspaper bring to you this December issue with the "New Look". This step forward is due in no small part to your enthusiastic reception of previous issues in which we have tried to provide articles of interest. We are also not unmindful of the complete cooperation of Mel Hutchinson, our President, and the rest of Management in seeing that adequate time and materials are available to enable us to accomplish our purpose.

If you like your paper, have any criticism of a constructive nature, or suggestions, why not send a letter directly to the Editor. If you have tried a recipe which was printed and like it, please let us know. We will be glad to publish your letter if you wish. Or, if you would like to know something about your company or an employee, if we are at liberty to publish the information we will do so. Remember, this is your newspaper. Its existence depends upon how well it serves you. Your continued support will be helpful and very much appreciated.

As we approach the Holiday Season your Editorial Staff extends to you and yours their personal wish that your Christmas will be a joyous one and that the New Year will be exceptionally good to you.

Don Froh

The United Fund

By Don Froh—Treasurer

Following is listed the Employee contributions to the United Fund by each plant. It should be noted that the contributions of Mobile Home Finance Company are included in the figures for Drayton Plains.

St. Louis $1,678.00

Drayton Plains $270.00

Kansas $467.50

The total contributions by the Company to the United Fund amounted to $3,500.00.

The employees at St. Louis are to be complimented for their excellent showing, and I would like to point out that they showed a nice increase over last year. This increase amounted to approximately 25%. It would appear that St. Louis has given Drayton Plains and Kansas some competition for the future. It might be interesting to note that even though the average contribution per man was only about $3.00 greater at St. Louis, you can see from the total figures that this makes a big difference in the contributions at each plant. I think with a little effort Drayton Plains and Kansas can reverse this picture and be the ones giving the competition next year.

Let's all of us get in there and pitch next year as there is no doubt that these funds are used to good advantage.

Detroit Subsidiary Buys Alma Building

Mel Hutchinson, President of the St. Louis Agency, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Detroit Mobile Homes, Inc., has announced the purchase of the First State Bank Building in Alma. The Agency will be moving its offices to the building as soon as remodeling is completed.

It is expected that the St. Louis Agency, Inc. will begin operating as a general insurance agency sometime after the first of the year. This will mean that the Detroit subsidiary will be selling all types of insurance to the public after that date.

Company to Provide Emergency Cars

Detroit is now in the process of obtaining three vehicles, probably station wagons, to be used as emergency cars. These cars will be equipped with stretchers and the latest in first aid equipment and materials. One car will be available at each plant, and it is planned to have these vehicles in use shortly after the first of the year.

The company has been very fortunate, through the fine cooperation of the employees, to have maintained an enviable record of safety over the past seven years, but safety records do slip if we are not constantly safety conscious. The emergency cars will not prevent accidents, but are being provided as part of the company's program of bringing to its employees whenever possible the services which will contribute to their welfare and security.

Let's all do our jobs the safe way. Think of these vehicles as you do your life insurance. It is a comfort to know that we have it but we are not anxious to use it.

Thank You

The following letter was placed in the St. Louis Leader-Press following the election at St. Louis:

To the Employees of Detroit Mobile Homes:

On behalf of all supervision and management of Detroit, I wish to THANK YOU for the vote of confidence as evidenced by your decisive "no union" vote last Tuesday. While it takes a lot of teamwork and many long hours to build up a workable and satisfactory relationship with employees, your appreciation as expressed in the election is a great reward for this effort.

I assure you that we will not violate the trust you have placed in us. We shall continue to strive for an even better record in the future. With your help the company will continue to grow and our jobs will become even more secure.

Mel Hutchinson

Tom: Do you know why a man living in New Hampshire cannot be buried west of the Mississippi?

Jerry: No, why?

Tom: Because he isn't dead yet.

Here is a preview of the living room of one of the 1961 Detroit models which will be shown at the National Dealer Show in Louisville, Kentucky, early in January. This model will have an expanding living room and rear bedrooms which will give the retail buyer maximum living space which he has never had before in a mobile home.

Union Defeated At St. Louis

In an election supervised by the National Labor Relations Board held at the St. Louis plant, 208 production and maintenance employees voted against a union being named as their bargaining agent. A number of votes were challenged but because the margin was so great, and since they could not have changed the result, they were not counted.

Mel Hutchinson spoke to the employees on Wednesday, November 30, the day after the election. Mel stated, "I am pleased to know that you feel we have done a good job in handling your problems and in treating you fairly during the past seven years. I assure you that we will continue to make that record better and better as time goes by."

The vote was interpreted as reflecting the general feeling that exists in the minds of the employees, that is, that DETROITER TOPS THEM ALL in many ways, including personal relations and concern for the welfare of the employees. While job seniority, a liberal bonus plan, paid vacations and holidays, fully paid group insurance plans, and the high wage rates were regarded as very important by the employees, the steady employment record of Detroit was believed to have been one of the greatest factors in the minds of the voting employees. Another decisive factor was the "open-door" policy which has always existed at all Detroit plants. Any employee has always been urged to discuss his problems with supervision or with Mel or Al Weideman if they so desired.

Mel assured the employees who had worked with the union that there would be no reprisals or discrimination. He stated that, "Everyone will be subject to the same rules of employment, which will be enforced fairly." He emphasized that, "Every man would be expected to do his job as he had in the past."

While the union had predicted that management would take benefits away from employees after the election, Mel assured the men that this was completely untrue. He emphasized that no benefit which had been gained during the seven years he had been associated with them would be taken away. He also noted that he would be working even harder to do a good job for Detroit and each of the employees to make their jobs even more secure.

Mel closed his remarks by thanking the employees for the support they had given and the confidence which they had expressed in the Detroit organization.

"Last night I said to my wife 'Let's go for a drive.' In five minutes she was ready to go, and we started across the river, and do you know what? Our automobile ran off the bridge and sank, but a large dog dived in and rescued us and then ran up the road for help. . . . What are you grinning about? Don't you believe me?"

Yes, all except that ridiculous part about your wife being ready in five minutes.

Insurance Club

Life insurance has come a long ways since the By-Laws of a typical "Insurance Club" were written sometime during the latter part of the eighteenth century.

They read as follows:

Sec. 1. On the decease of any member of this Society in good standing, each member shall pay one dollar and ten cents to the Treasurer, who shall pay one dollar of the same to the widow of the deceased member, or the nearest relative, and any member failing to pay when notified, the same shall be charged as dues; and no member who shall be in arrears for three months will be entitled to receive the above.

Sec. 2. All officers and members of the Society shall attend the funeral of deceased members, and for non-attendance the officers shall be fined $1.00, and the members shall be fined 25 cts. Officers shall wear at all funerals a white rosette, and members a white ribbon, on the left lapel of their coats. The funeral arrangements shall be under the charge of a marshal, appointed by the President for that purpose.

Sec. 3. There shall be elected a chaplain, whose duty shall be to attend the funerals of the deceased members, and he may adopt such services as he shall think proper.

Sec. 4. No member shall lose his right in the above sections except at his own request, on his taking his cards; but he must keep at all times his residence registered in the books of the Society, and for neglect of doing so, or failure to pay his dollar and ten cents, after 60 days notice, his name shall be dropped from the roll, and he shall cease to be a member of the Insurance. The ten cents shall be held to pay expenses, and the Treasurer shall, on the death of a member, report all money collected, with the expense thereof.

You Could Use One of These In Your Family Room

If you have been looking for another gadget for your family room, you might consider making an old fashioned Lapboard. Nothing in this modern age has quite taken its place, and Dad can make it in his workshop with very little effort or expense. It is useful to every member of the family regardless of age.

A Lapboard can be made from plywood and should be about 36" x 20" in size, with a rounded section cut out on one side to fit the body. After this is done, the Lapboard may be painted your favorite color or varnished. It is rested on the lap or placed between the arms of a chair to provide a work or play surface. This makes an ideal surface area for sewing, studying, letter writing or card playing.

If you really want a deluxe Lapboard, a checkerboard may be painted on the surface, and a yard rule scored along the top.

BOWLING

By Lee Dolloff

The bowling season is well under way, and Detroit is well represented in the various leagues in the St. Louis-Alma Area. Bob Harger's Detroit No. 1 is in first place in the Tri-City League and with recent high scoring this is understandable.

The Industrial League at Riviera Lanes gives us Loyd Cameron's Detroit Aces, who have occupied first place a good portion of the early season. Leading the league with his powerful ball and a 181 average is Dick Grymonprez.

Also, in the Industrial League and coming on fast are the keggers of Chuck O'Meara. With Al "Tiger" Thomas, Jim Bronson, Everett Larson, Basil Pyle, Ron Murray, and Dick Pawson, this team most certainly is to be reckoned with.

As in most team sports, a bench is necessary for participants who take up the slack when regulars falter. That being the case Detroit teams have a good man in Ernie Best who will at a moment's notice fill in for any Detroit Team needing a fifth man. Of course, as only Ernie can tell you, he is more acclaimed for his horse shoe pitching.

With the basketball season about to get underway, a team is being organized at the St. Louis Plant. John Heck is the team coach. John reports that a league is being formed in the St. Louis-Alma Area and he hopes to enter our Detroit squad. Our next edition will give the names of the players and information as to their progress. Incidentally, John was quite an athlete in his High School days at Van Wert, Ohio. Winning 12 letters in four sports is a feat seldom accomplished.

Kansas Plant

Detroit team No. 1, having led the league since the first of the season, finally released their hold of first place. Last Wednesday night was the 12th night of bowling; and as such, a position night. Detroit No. 1 was in first place by one point, bowling the second place team. They lost four points. This loss moved them to third place but they, like McArthur, vow that they shall return! Good luck boys, but look out for Detroit No. 2. They have the same idea.

Pheasant season this year in Kansas showed a bountiful number of birds with most hunters getting their limit. Ironically those who travelled the farthest from home, like Kenny Schwartz, got the least number of birds.

The Kansas Detroit basketball team held their first practice session at the Sports Arena on Thursday night, November 17th. Coach John Wolfe of the Security Dept. says he has some good players but reports two shortages. First a shortness of height of the players reporting, and also a shortness in numbers. So if any men in the Kansas Plant have an inclination to play basketball and have a good time, John and the boys would appreciate having you help them out. Here's to a lot of fun and a good season to all concerned.

Drayton Plains Plant

After canvassing the plant personnel Monday, November 21st (after first week of deer season) we came up with the sad tale from all quarters—We didn't see any or there were lots of deer but unable to get a shot or couldn't tell whether it was a buck or doe. So consequently we got only a few nimrods to tell us that they got theirs.

William King—Floor Dept., reports he got a nice 150 lb. spike up Harrisonville way.

Leon Cross—Floor Dept., reports getting a big 180 lb. spike ten miles west of Cadillac, Mich.

Fred Lindsay—Supt., got a doe but was not too overly enthused about it.

Then possibly the tallest yarn (This reporter believed that Mac was telling the truth — however there were others who were not convinced) came from Mac Johns — Mill Foreman. Mac got a hold of one with a big big rack—hit him twice in the foreleg and shoulder, but the darn thing got up to limp away into a swamp. Mac searched and searched this swamp from end to end and couldn't locate the critter. Then Mac got a shot at another one—this one got away too. Mac is another one determined to get his buck, so the search continued throughout the rest of the season, hoping, hoping, hoping. (As we go to press, only silence from Drayton Plains, and the season is over.)

Mother Said There Would Be Days Like This

Sometimes, the proverbial adage becomes a reality. At least one that we know of "It never rains but what it pours" did. Such was the case with Drayton's Upfitter Earl King.

First—It was October 20th — and Earl being an erstwhile nimrod hid himself and his dog out to get some pheasants. They tramped the country-side over and they, between the two of them, could not kick up any birds whatsoever. So, the dog became so incensed over his (or was it Earl's) inability to kick out any birds, that he tore up the interior of Earl's car.

Second—Now it is October 21st—the King's pet parakeet went and took up his residence in bird heaven.

Third—Still the 21st of October—At that, there generally is a silver lining and in this instance it was a silver lining, for Earl's better half presented him with a fine new boy—Earl Russell, Jr. is the handle. T'was born early at 5:00 a.m. and came in at a trim 7 lbs. 4 ozs.

PS No. 1 The parakeet just couldn't stand the competition.

PS No. 2 Incidentally, Earl did not get his deer either.

EVERYBODY IS OUT OF STEP BUT ME

Saturday, December 5th, was not Ted Allen's day. At exactly 5:07 Ted, who is the Cabinet Department Foreman at St. Louis, drove up to the Security Office and asked in rapid succession, "Where is everybody? Isn't this the day we taken inventory? There are no cars in the parking lot, why? It is now five minutes after seven, is everybody going to be late? Finally Lee Dolloff, Security Officer, got Ted calmed down and proceeded to explain to him that it actually was not five minutes after seven, but seven minutes past five. It was not reported to us whether Ted went to work or if he went home to get another hour or so of sleep, but we do suspect the fact that Ted had his wrist watch on backwards had something to do with the situation.

Sport Brief

Drayton Detroit Office girls Pat Cline and Jackie Laing are really upholding their own when it comes to bowling. It isn't often they get a 200 game but when they do, we are told about it and often. Yep, Jackie's the latest—she got 212, and had the score sheet to prove it. Nice going.

A CHALLENGE

Start eating your wheaties, men, Leo Moeggenberg reports that his St. Louis Security Department will accept any and all challenges to a Tug-Of-War, come next year's Detroit picnic. A six man team to be made up from within any other department. Any challengers?

RECIPES

HUNGARIAN BRIGHT STARS

- 5 C. sifted all-purpose flour
- $\frac{1}{4}$ t. salt
- 4 t. baking powder
- 1 lb. shortening
- 6 egg yolks
- 2 cakes fresh yeast
- $1\frac{1}{4}$ c. lukewarm milk

In a large shallow bowl, sift flour, salt and baking powder. With cookie blender cut in shortening until texture is like rice. Add egg yolks and yeast that has been dissolved in the milk with two drops of yellow food coloring added. Blend all ingredients well but do not over-work. Divide dough into at least five or six parts so that it is easier to work with. Place in large flat pan, cover, and place in refrigerator for one-half hour to an hour to chill.

FILLING

Grind one pound of dried apricots, add about one-half cup of water and steam over very low flame. Add one-half cup white sugar and cook, stirring constantly. Beat with spoon as it cooks and when thick remove from heat to cool. Must be thoroughly cool before using. Take one part of dough at a time, roll out on a board that is sprinkled with mixture of ground walnuts and sugar. Roll out to $\frac{1}{4}$ inch thickness. Use a zig-zag cookie cutter. Cut dough into two-inch squares, then with a sharp paring knife cut each corner in about one inch toward the center. Place one-half teaspoon of apricot filling in the center of each cookie, folding over every other corner of the cookie to form a star. Place cookies one inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 18 minutes. Remove at once with small spatula to cool, sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar before serving.

If You're Good

Santa Claus will come tonight
If you're good,
And do what you know is right,
As you should.
Down the chimney he will creep,
Bringing you a woolly sheep,
And a doll that goes to sleep,
If you're good.

Santa Claus will drive his sleigh,
Through the wood.
But he'll come around this way
If you're good,
With a wind-up bird that sings
And a puzzle made of rings,
He will bring you cars that go,
If you're good.

Jumping jacks and funny things
If you're good.
And a rocking-horsy, Oh!
If he would!
And a dolly that can sneeze.
That says, "Mamma!" when you squeeze,—
He'll bring you one of these
If you're good.

Santa grieves when you are bad,
As he should:
But it makes him very glad
When you're good.
He is wise and he's a dear:
Just do right and never fear:
He'll remember you each year
If you're good.

Piccola

In a small, thatched cottage in Italy lived a little girl whose name was Piccola. She was an only child, and her father and mother loved her very dearly. But they were so poor that they could give her but few pleasures. The glad Christmas time was fast approaching, and in Italy, as in other countries, it is above all other days the children's festival. They are filled with wonder about the good St. Nicholas. They talk of his coming, and plan how they will lie awake to hear the prancing reindeer on the roof. And perhaps—who knows—they may catch a glimpse of the jolly old man himself, with his red cheeks and white beard and long fur coat. What joy it would be to see him filling the stockings from the pack of toys upon his back!

To little Piccola, it was a gladsome time. She never doubted for a moment that something beautiful must befall every child on Christmas Day. She talked and sang, and made the house ring with her joy and delight. She had been told that Santa Claus remembers all good children, and every night at bed time she would ask: "Have I been a help to you today, mother? Have I been good enough to please St. Nicholas?"

"Yes, dear child," her mother could always answer, "but we are so poor, I fear St. Nicholas will not remember us."

"Oh, yes, he will," the trusting child never failed to reply. "The kind saint, you know, loves all good children and remembers them."

To her father and mother it was a time of sadness for they were far too poor to buy presents for their little daughter. The thought of her disappointment on Christmas morning was almost more than they could bear. But what could they do? It was often hard for them to provide enough food and fuel to keep from suffering. Their house was old, and the winds beat the rain and snow through its many cracks and crevices.

The much longed-for Christmas eve came at last, and with it a storm of snow and wind. The poor child was sadly troubled because she had no stockings to hang by the chimney. Perhaps St. Nicholas would come and not find a place to put his present. In a moment, however, she remembered her wooden shoes, and placing them in front of the fireplace, she pattered away to bed, happy and hopeful in the belief that her shoes would not be empty in the morning.

Piccola slept soundly, and awoke sure that a gift had been left for her during the night. With a bound she was out of bed and across the room at the chimney. She looked into her shoes and found—what do you think? Strange as it may seem, in one of them was a tiny swallow, wet and shivering with cold. With a shout of delight she ran to her parents, holding out her treasure. "Oh, look! look!" she cried. "See what the kind saint has brought me!" Never was there a more delighted child than little Piccola. She jumped and sang and clapped her hands.

Poor little brown bird! His wing had been hurt, and he could not fly. The night before he had found his way down the chimney and had crawled into the tiny shoe that stood upon the hearth.

The little swallow was not in the least afraid of Piccola. He took crumbs from her hand and reached up with his bill to drink the water that she held out on her finger. All day she petted and fed her new playmate, and the bird seemed to love her in return.

And not in all the land of Italy, that joyous Christmas Day, could have been found a happier child than sweet, helpful little Piccola.—Adapted.

Names For Santa Claus

Santa Claus is known by various names in the different countries. In the Netherlands he is known as St. Nicholas, from which our own name Santa Claus comes. St. Nicholas is specially loved in Amsterdam, the largest city of Holland, and besides Christmas, a day in November is devoted to his honor. The Dutch children leave their two little wooden shoes by the fireplace Christmas eve, to be filled by the good old saint, instead of stockings, as we do here.

The Christmas messenger in Alsace is supposed to be a lady dressed in white, whose face is powdered with flour. She has long, yellow hair, and a gold crown, ornamented with tiny candles. She carries a basket of presents in one hand, and a silver bell in the other. Hans Trapp, a mysterious someone of whom the little ones are all afraid, rides with her on the same donkey. The children place a bunch of hay behind the door for the tired donkey, with a glass of wine beside it for the lady and Hans Trapp.
